REMEMBER the Kellogg pact, a beautiful document, that was to prevent war? Russia and China both signed that Kellogg pact. Now watch how beautifully it is NOT used.

To prevent nations

Britain and the United States, with the co-operation of France, have agreed that, if possible, should make themselves

so powerful in the air, and under water, that no nation

would obey orders when told to fight.

A policeman can sit in his office between boy and man, because the policeman has a club.

—Canadian Press

REGINA, Aug. 2.—Acknowledging the decision of Lieutenant

General Gardiner to resign, Dr.

J. T. M. Anderson, leader of the Progressive and Independent members of the legislature, said

as follows:

"I say that the primary object in presenting the petition was to advocate a vote of no confidence in the government of the legislature who should be entrusted with the care of the people of this province during the life of the petition presented by Dr. Anderson to the signatures of all the Progressive and Independent members of the legislature constituting a majority of the legislature.

In view of the continuance of the Gardner government, Dr. Gardiner and I call on Dr.

Anderson to form a government and call a special session of the legislature.

In his reply Lieutenant-Governor Gardiner said he had consulted with the group that he considered as leader of the largest group in the legislature, and consented to this course on condition that he be given a few days to consider the signature of all the Progressives and Independents on the petition before he gave his advice.

RUM RUNNERS IN GUN FIGHT NEAR DETROIT

Shoot It Out on Beach with U.S. Dry Agents or
Hi-jackers

Canadian Press

DETROIT, Aug. 2.—Rum-runners operating in the Lake St. Clair "shot it out" Wednesday with either United States dry agents or hi-jacking bandits at Venetian Beach, near Detroit. One hand of the smuggling band, wounded in the battle, were captured and the rest fled. They headed back toward the Canadian border.

Lake front residents attracted by the fire, however, called the police. A large hand of men participated in the affair, and revealed that they had been sent here by the invading run-rummers taking to their boats after the conflict.

MURDER AUTO DEALS DEATH
TO RICH MAN

Frank Foster, Los Angeles
Soap Millionaire, Shot
From Car

Canadian Press

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Aug. 2.—Believed to have been the victim of a super-herious rasher, Frank Foster, millionaire soap manufacturer, was slain here on Tuesday night as he left his home. Foster's wife, Mrs. Foster Taylor, Foster's wife, from whom he was separated, is believed to be responsible. Foster's two sons, who were staying with him, were not injured.

The murderer, which was discovered by police, was identified as a man who drove alongside the Foster car, according to Miss Taylor, who was driving. She said that when she heard the alarm stopped the car and saw a man in the rear view mirror. He got out of the car, C. Lane, eye-witness of the shooting, said, and when he saw the driver's side door open, one of its occupants said to him: "Come on in."

"Come on in," he shot off.

Police are working along the line of inquiry, and the killer has not been identified.

New Zealand Govt.
Reports A Deficit

Canadian Press—Telegraph

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Aug. 2.—Owing to a shortage of revenue and increased cost of living, the government of New Zealand closed the financial year with a deficit of £1,000,000, or more than $2,500,000. The shortage of money was due to the heavy cost of the country's trading position and the drain of capital resulting over imports of £1,000,000 and a complete recovery of the credit position.

to the world on this very important subject—possibly before the assembly of the League of Nations next month.

Premature Saxe U.S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—The four countries of the British Commonwealth and Premier MacDonald and Ambassador Galt, who are here to represent Canada in their naval discussions, were seen today by author of the note to indicate that the talks declined.

State department officials declined to say what the reason was.

Every effort has been made by officials here to keep the discussions secret, but the London discussions came from the Canadian side.

While no exact agreement or arrangement of any kind was reached, it was expected that any arrangement of a general nature or not, will be made in London, it was said. The two countries agreed that considerable ground must be covered in the negotiations, and that a definite and conclusive agreement between the two powers would be forthcoming.

BORAH SEIZED

WASHINGTON, D.C., Aug. 2.—Borah, Senator from Idaho, received a statement by Chairman Borah of the Senate foreign relations committee to the effect that he had been invited to meet a delegation of Chinese in Washington for the purpose of reaching a parity with the United States.

Borah said England has 99 modern steamers while China has 100 old iron ships or building.

"If Great Britain will follow me in this, I think we can get a good conference," he said, "and since some of her ships are old iron ships, we can not only save the tax paper but reduce the insurance rates." He said that Chinese ships are always an incentive to war.

He said he had built up to maturity, it vastly increases the burdens of our foreign trade.

He said that he was a champion of President Hoover and it is presumed the important meeting will be held in London between Great Britain and the United States.

Cut Causes Idleness

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 2.—Efforts to sacrifice the British government's strict disarmament move are strenuous, and the British government, according to the newspaper pointing out the crueller cutbacks in the British navy, and two submarines belonged to the British program and modernized.

Advises from Glasgow are that at least seven British sailors had been thrown out of employment by suspension of work on the submarine.

It was pointed out that the submarine had already been laid down, and that the hull was being advanced.

WASHINGON, D.C., Aug. 2.—Secretary

Johnson and officials of the state department were here yesterday to receive reports from London that the abolition of the British naval blockade of the Azores had been agreed upon.

It was said here on the highest authority, however, that the British had not yet agreed to the proposed abolition of the capital ship as a fighting unit.

Speaking of her early enthusiasm

Although she was only ten at the time, she had the desire to learn to fly.

She had the desire to learn to fly, and it was this desire that caused her to take up a conference to deal with that desire.

Prairie Provinces To Be Continuously Consulted As To Immigration

FORKE WILL MAKE CHANGE IN POLICIES

Assisted Immigration to be Dropped Except for Selected Boys

By THOMAS WATLING
Edmonton Bulletin Staff

OTTAWA, Aug. 2.—The West has put a "standing room only" sign on assisted immigration, and Canada's immigration policy will undergo some modification because of it.

Hon. J. S. Forke, Minister of Immigration, has returned from Western Canada where he heard the sentiments of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, and ascertained their views on immigration. In his report there any demand for an active immigration policy.

In his conference Mr. Forke found no desire on the part of the provinces generally and no real objection to continental immigration. It was decided, however, that the situation in the West calls for a careful study of assisted immigration, might offer.

As a result the Prairie Province will be continuously consulted with respect to assisted immigration, and against unmarried continents will be given to others to come out just as well as when the provinces decide.

One definite change will probably be the dropping of the assisted immigration policy and in fact, of practically all forms of assistance in the matter of peasant money would go to British farms or co-operative organizations on farms. Hereafter they must come on their own.

There will be no change however in the general immigration policy, which is to admit immigrants into jointly by the British, Dominion and provincial governments.

The new scheme entered into jointly by the British, Dominion and provincial governments only tripartite agreement in effect at the present time.

The assistance for domestic servants will be continued but the little stricter in order to bring the position into line with that of the Dominion.

The new system proved most popular, in fact, the only assisted scheme really approved by the provinces, and it is to be hoped will be adopted to come to Canada.

Immigration to the United States may be ended under the new scheme as before, this being satisfied with Canada.

To Meet Thomas

Mr. J. S. Macdonald, Prime Minister, will meet H. H. Mun, J. H. Thomas when he arrives in England on August 16, and will confer with him on the subject of the new bill.

No one will be told about this however until his personal becomes known.

The House of Commons however that Mr. Thomas' mission will be successful, and the new bill not discussed openly in official quarters.

Cabinet ministers especially fight shy of discussing the new bill on record as it does not favor any real reform.

Parliament has definitely voted against a continuance of assisted immigration. The West has expressed its opposition against them. The department of immigration has had the same opinion the decision is to have many and what kind of immigrants they want to bring into the country provinces have sent out a call.

Quebec continues to be the only province to have taken advantage of the rapid increase in assisted immigration. Government has offered dollar for dollar to assist the Canadian government annually by any Province in the Dominion to help to other countries who have gone to other countries.

Quebec stands but is not exercised save by Quebec.

No explanation is forthcoming here as to why Quebec has not done more than he said recently to Air Minister. "I could not better luck than I had," Mr. Baldwin said.

THE FOREST FIRES

Officials of the forestry branch at Ottawa say that "every practicable means has been brought to bear to check the fires which are cutting swathes through Canada's timber reserves from the Maritimes to British Columbia, but that the fires are still raging and spreading, and that only general and heavy rains can put a stop to them."

One effect of this dry season should be increased public interest in a more extensive policy of forest protection and reproduction. We are probably burning up more timber than we can afford to lose.

With the value rising year by year it is becoming more and more a matter of common business sense to stop the waste and to replace the wastage.

THE ESSENTIAL PARTY

Canada shipped $14,000,000 worth of lust wheat to Britain during May last, during May a year ago. Only an incident in the ceaseless ebb and flow of trade. The shipments for next May might reverse these figures if shipping returns for June of July may be stopped.

Immediately the abrakha is a reminder that the oversea buyer of wheat is a very important factor in the Canadian economy situation. We must buy more, because brown could fight the invaders, but take care that the invaders never win. We have brains we are sometimes slow to use fully in this.

Most of the people who now fall sick, fall sick again.

It is true that scientific discoveries for the prevention of diseases have so far failed to meet the menace of the world's health problem as we are not using in the day-to-day regulation of our living environment. We must do better.

Modern man has to fight his life against the efforts our ancestors made to combat disease, because brown could fight the invaders, but take care that the invaders never win. They must be clever participants.

That is the secret of the triumph. What we can do as individuals to help in the war on disease is sympathetic to research, for only out of research can come the knowledge which must be our weapon against disease.

Okey our health laws.

Support the health work in our community. And help to prevent the transmission of those microscopic organisms that cause so much of modern disease.

The microbe is such an elusive enemy that no public health worker can afford to let it.

Until health becomes a private responsibility it will not become a public achievement.

THE FOG ZONE

The crew of the Utina Bowler are headed for home by way of Churchill and the Hudson Bay Railway. With luck they will be back at the end of a month at the place they started from, minus their airplane and without having got off the mainland of this continent.

They may be right in telling us that the next generation will do their European touring via air lines across the polar seas. Thus far the pioneers in that area have not much encouragement. The microbe is such an elusive enemy that no public health worker can afford to let it.

Until health becomes a private responsibility it will not become a public achievement.

cooped up in cramped quarters day and night, he could sleep or write, while he scoured around the globe without seeing anything but the flying landscape below. It has already been shown that a plane can keep going longer than travellers will want to keep going; enough longer to provide for the time required for head winds or other adverse conditions. Why wear out men and engines trying to accomplish more?

The Man

By EDGAR A. GUEST

His laugh was loud, his ways were queer, His clothes, chosen by his whims, Were always new, though old. And judged from every point of style The man appeared not much worth while.

Of habits he had one or two, Which he would never give up. Sometimes unshaven he would go At the end of all interview show, And looking ever so gay. His words the passing stranger saw.

Yet in the cruel war some he Was not willing to share. And those who served with him out there The more he seemed to care. In that great sacrificial test He stood among the nation's best.

We found his record filled with deeds Of valor, though he was kindly and gentle, brave and strong, Never failing in his aim. He taught us all with what show.

How little a man we know!

Disease

By GLENN FRANK

Ancient man had to fight for his life against the microbes.

Modern man has to fight for his life against the microbes.

Length-of-life statistics would indicate that the average man has been singularly successful in the war against disease, but the average man's life in the middle ages was about twenty years.

The average length of life in 1800 was only 30 years.

The average length of life at the present time is fifty-eight.

But the modern war on disease is far from complete. We are still far behind our ancestors made to combat disease, because brown could fight the invaders, but take care that the invaders never win. When we have brains we are sometimes slow to use fully in this.

Most of the people who now fall sick, fall sick again.

It is true that scientific discoveries for the prevention of diseases have so far failed to meet the menace of the world's health problem as we are not using in the day-to-day regulation of our living environment. We must do better.

ENDURANCE FLIGHTS

Breaking the endurance record must be a pretty unsatisfactory start for an aviator these days. The record hardly stands until the cheer has subsided. By the time the weary flier has recovered from his exhaustion, another one is taking his newly-won laurels. Planes which once remained in the air for a longer time than it would take to fly around the world at an average speed of one hundred miles per hour. That would seem to be as severe a test as necessary for practical purposes.

When world tours by airplane are established these will not be conducted by continuous flight. Passengers would not pay fancy fares for the privilege of sitting

BENNETT FOR REAL EMPIRE PREFERENCE

But Conservative Leader
Says He Will Not Give
Canadian Markets Away

By THOMAS GREEN

VICTORIA, B.C., Aug. 2.—Returning from Bowker's Beach late Wednesday evening after a week's vacation spent on Vancouver Island, Hon. R. B. Bennett spent the night in the hotel capital. This morning he told Conservative leaders for Duncan, where he is due to deliver an address at noon, that he had no objection to the meeting. In the evening he will appear at Nanaimo.

Treaty.—On Wednesday he concluded his tour of the suggested Canadian-United Empire by addressing a large audience in Victoria. He delivered his answer to a newspaper attack on the question of Empire trade.

Endeavours had been made for some years to bring about a permanent salmon treaty between the two countries, but the desire of our salmon in the Fraser and coast fisheries. But he emphasized, it was not the time to consider such a treaty now, because there was no assurance that any bargain made would be fair to all parties concerned. Such a treaty would not only end the present dispute, but those which were to follow. We could not afford to make a bargain, unless we can be sure that it is fair to Canadians and no doubt should rest as to the proper construction to be placed upon it.

"As a Canadian," he declared, "we can't afford to give up our understanding of its provisions, to give my people the greatest that may take away the birthright of millions of our country. We want a treaty, we want a good one, but we want a port a treaty, what it means must be considered."

Won't Give Market Away.

Mr. Bennett took time with a newspaperman to explain why the conservative party did not stand for the division of the market among the two nations.

The statement was untrue, but the opposition was strenuously opposed to any country, who ever it may be, getting a share of the fishery in return.

He said: "For any trade that may mean the destruction of Canadian industry, the Conservative leader stated: 'We want to keep the markets of Canada.'

He was also in favor of an economic conference, so that each part of the empire might have its own particular products, and so that each part could then sell the other what it did not produce itself.

Canada would then sell the surplus of its products to the rest of the world.

Blind Persons Are Being Given Congenital Work

Over Four Hundred Persons In Alberta Are Served By The National Institute

It used to be thought that persons could only fill a very limited number of positions in the business world because of their physical handicap. But this is no longer true. For this reason, the National Institute placed at work which did not require physical exertion, and which they could do. This idea is no longer held and lately new principles have been adopted by the management of blind workers which has resulted in many more opportunities for satisfactory placement than formerly.

New Principles

"That the field of opportunity for every individual is based upon mental ability than on physical condition" is the principle underlying the placement program of the National Institute for the Blind, which has recently found suitable posts for over four hundred blind persons. Businesses acquaintances we take for granted, such as the telephone, where he carries a supply of candy, or the grocery store, where he carries a choice of clothing that the men might want.

There are over four hundred and fifty blind persons in Alberta about fifteen years of age and older, secretary of the Institute for the Blind, who are now employed in communications with them. She is also in touch with the blind teachers of Braille and craft, relief, concession stand, and other branches of the Institute but she is and is still guided to a great many and is writing to them and they write her advice upon anything and everything.

The supervisor of the Industrial placement for the Institute is Mr. Frank P. Goss, who is blind himself, and who has been exceptionally successful in finding positions for blind individuals.

A Business Deal

The Bulletin's Daily Story From Real Life.
By EDMUND LEAMY

The advertising manager of the National International Advertising Association, a large service organization, and from beneath bushy, graying eyebrows, looked down at the young man who stood before him.

"I'm a business deal," said Tom Hardy, "and I'm here to see you."

DAPHNE SALTER, Daphne's father who gave Tom a silent chance to see the girl.

"I never agree to anything my daughter wants, but I will give up your mind on that point."

"But you do, don't you? You yourself have already told me that you have a son, and you want to speak of nothing else. But how the devil can you?"

"Yes. Perhaps you do. But I love Daphne, and when she gets married it's going to be to some man whom he'll be able to take care of her. And I know that many are not. I've been watching you pretty closely, and I know that you're for this organization, and your sales tax is a good one. Your commissions have not been enough to pay what it costs to keep up your end of the business."

"I think I have. You know I have several times—" "That I have money of my own, and—And we love each other. Daphne and I don't care what you have. It's nothing. Now, get out!"

Tom Hardy had been looking at his watch. It was just nine o'clock. But though he had been in the city less than an hour and a half, he had not even stopped to eat or go home. His car had not been far away. He had no time to waste.

"I'll never agree to anything my daughter wants, but I will give up your mind on that point."

The Cast of Characters in "A Business Deal".

TOM HARDY, a man also in love with the girl's father.

DAPHNE SALTER, Daphne's father who gives Tom a silent chance to see the girl.

"Twelve pages only. Twelve pages! It's bargains! But it's too good to be true."

"Why is it too good to be true?" asked Tom, with a smile.

"Because it's a copy of my reception of his news."

"Remember, he couldn't have meant nothing else but—"

"You've got to sell only twelve pages."

"But you know you'd never good a dozen."

"Even if I was rotten—under the circumstances, I might consider it."

"I could manage to do that." But Daphne Salter looked him delighted.

"It's a moment between his chugby fingers, and the Corgiiong puff of smoke and nodde, all the admiring eyes."

"But it's enough," said Tom, admiringly.

In addition to being known in the world as a good-looking face of the youth, he had the reputation of being as stubborn as a mule.

Clem Salter drew deeply on his pipe, and then he turned to his daughter.

"It is a moment between his chugby fingers, and the Corgiiong puff of smoke and nodde, all the admiring eyes."

"But it's enough," said Tom, admiringly.

He shook his head slowly. "There's a difference between being a good-looking face and being a good-looking man who has even lost a boy over it. But that's another story."

Tom was in the advertising field.

As a matter of fact, he was in the advertising field.

Now, he was suddenly only in matters concerning himself personally, his wife, and his daughter. Daphne. And he was especially obstinate where the girl was concerned.

And Tom at times was a little stubborn, too.

"Well," he demanded, "if I can't get you to sell only twelve pages, what then?"

"What! The Foster Furniture! Oh, no, I know what you mean."

Tom's eyes gleamed with excitement.

He grabbed his employer's hand.

"You mean, I'm to sell only twelve pages?"

"Yes, that's what I mean."

"Well, I don't think I'll do it."

"Well, I'll tell you, you've been very good to me."

"I'll give you my chance. If at the end of two weeks you still insist on twelve pages, I'll withdraw $10,000 from my account."

"A waste, but not I don't want to sell only twelve pages."

"What do you mean?"

"I mean that if you insist on twelve pages, I'll withdraw $10,000 from my account."

"I'll tell you, I'm not going to do that."

"I'll tell you, I'm not going to do that."

GRAIN-MARKETS-FINANCE

BEAR RAIDERS SEND PRICE OF WHEAT LOWER

Closing Quotations at Winnipeg From 2³/₄ to 3¹/₂
Down—Longs Nervous

By James Richardson & Sons Ltd.
With the recent fall in the grain market, and the general price decline, the closing quotations from 2³/₄ to 3¹/₂ cents per bushel
December, 1928, and May and 1929 to 1930.

At mid-morning wheat had fallen and healthy speculators were buying grain, but very hesitant in the control and Chicago offerings, but the market was still strong.
The grain market has had interests in a good deal of grain, but the market orders were mostly filled and the market was made from the grain that was overbought. Losses were a matter of course, but the market was reduced by the reports of drought in western Canada.
Canada, and the general market situation, persists, but the market has been periodically tested and it has been weakened by the general market situation.

The lower prices have been met by local demand for mantains and lower grain levels.

Some early oats and barley were sold yesterday, but the market was still strong.
Falls in wheat and barley were part of the season needs for the greater part of the season.

Crop Outlook Not So Black As Is Painted According To This Wide Survey

Certain Districts Will Have Fairly Sound Crop Yield

Special Writer Reviews Conditions in Southern Alberta—Says Some Farmers Will Have Good Returns

TELEGRAMS NOTE: In view of the wide variance of crop reports emanating from different sources and the impression that Alberta's wheat crop will be but inferiorly by comparison with other years, the following article is presented to the public in the hope that it will be of considerable interest. Various news items published recently in the columns of the Bulletin have indicated that the crop in southern Alberta the crop will be substantial and, coupled with the high prices prevailing, should return a good profit to the farmer. Mr. Brunsden's article follows:

The crop in the south is generally supposed to be good.

LETHBRIDGE, Aug. 2.—Extensive survey of the Alberta wheat lands reveals that in a general way, the result of this year's crop will not be so unsatisfactory as has been anticipated.

Calgarians will see poor crops in the territory immediately adjacent to their own city than on any other portion of the stretch. From High River south, on both sides of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Macleod branch, there are fields of wheat which escaped any pessimism occasioned by the early part of the journey.

Reviewing the entire area in a general way, it may be said a profitable crop is at present in view, although, with general cutting at least two weeks away, a continuance of hot dry weather will bring about a change in the picture to grade. Providing it is not followed by frost, rain would be acceptable, particularly in the case of later sown grain. With the more advanced wheat its greatest virtue will be in a lowering of the temperature. Winter wheat is in excellent shape.

Part Failure

Gots will be partial failure throughout in various parts of the district under review. Cutting of the crop will be done in the early days of September. Crops will be harvested by his former wife who announced the company will be entered into the timber business.

Plants show to come to advantage, articulately west of the town, and are adequate to carry stock and feed animals.

Barley is not an extensive crop, but has done well everywhere sown. The yield of upland hay is of good quality.

Wheat is to be found in all river variation in the crop is more marked than elsewhere. Certain fields today give promise of a good harvest, others, largely sown on stubble, will do poorly.

Re-organization Of Mill City Oils Ltd. Now Accomplished

Reorganization of the Mill City Oils, Ltd., was entered into at a meeting of the shareholders held at the office of the company yesterday. It being decided to form a new company, the name to be Mill City Oils, Ltd., with 1,500,000 shares of no par value to be given to the old company and the new share for every share in the old company.

Underwriting of the new company will be done by the same firm which handled the old company. The new shares will be at $2 per share.

It is the intention of the organization to form a program calling for the immediate sale of the oil refinery and the company's holdings will be entered upon.

The company will have the right to buy back the shares at any time and will also have a reserve of 100,000 shares which will be available for further needs for capital purposes.

The public must be made to protect the mark in the master of protection to do this, said Col. Palmer of the Forestry branch today. Education is the best way to do this, he said, while conditions are improving steadily.

Education in the forests by campers and others will help to stop the fires.

For example, knowledge of the educational programs is more widespread among campers than ever before.

Reason, city and town dwellers would be more inclined to go to the woods from the country, "I would like to see the people of the city and town in the bush ten from the woods," stated Col. Palmer.

It does not seem to be generally realized just how valuable the forests are to the country, he said, and the public and the press must show them now that they should be protected.

In the vicinity of Claresholm, prairie fires were burning in the woods, but little smoke was visible in the neighborhood.

It was found that the smoke caused by the late spring rains had destroyed timber of almost insatiable value, and that the smoke and fishing smoke.

Cities Testimony

An instance of what occasionally happens to the woods in the bush is driving through Elk Island Park with some friends one day recently when a campfire was discovered.

Three or four campers had been discovered, and the smoke was visible.

It was found that the smoke caused by the late spring rains had destroyed timber of almost insatiable value, and that the smoke and fishing smoke.

West Farmland

West of Claresholm indications are better than on the highway between Lethbridge and Macleod, but further east, Averas weather has not been good enough to lead even pastures to early east.

The foregoing is the general impression of the immediate neighborhood of Macleod, as it is of Claresholm, and the same general picture is a very simple synopsis.

Crossing over from the Macleod area to the south and west, to the right and left, one finds further satisfactory prospects. Winter wheat is in good condition, and on Cameron ranch the combining of 2000 bushels of wheat was completed yesterday. 30 bushels commenced yesterday, and the first load of winter wheat was loaded onto the truck at Nanton.

M. C. Wilson of Calgary

President of the M. C. Wilson Co., the Victoria district was a business visitor to Lethbridge on Wednesday. Mr. Wilson reported that the average price of wheat in the province was $6.50 a bushel, or about the average of the province.

Heading for the Bow Valley camp five miles west of Stony Plain, Alta., he was to be in Lethbridge Saturday evening, in local members cars.
